

Licensing of Private Investigation activities by the SIA

Robertson and Co are pleased to announce a new division of their company:

'Robertson and Co Training'

This new line of business has been developed to deliver the nationally accredited learning necessary to achieve the QCF Level 3 Qualification that will be required by the SIA for Private Investigations.

We are now an accredited training centre with IQ (Industry Qualifications). Unlike many offerings on the market, the training that is delivered by our qualified teachers leads to the licence to practice qualification recognised by the SIA.

The Newcomer

A study course that the newcomer to Private Investigation or less experienced practitioner would require.

5 Day Face to Face Training Workshop L3 Investigators Award

Five-Day face to face training by one of our highly experienced sector competent tutors at one of our regional training centers.

The candidate will undertake five days classroom training and follow a structured program necessary to achieve the competence criteria stipulated by the SIA. On the final day of the course the candidate will take two 45 minute, invigilated examinations which the successful candidate will require to meet the needs of SIA licensing.

Your fee includes:

- The training course
- Guidance from a highly experienced tutor
- Exam
- Assessment
- Award
- Registration

Unfortunately fees are non-refundable but if possible we can be flexible to meet your individual needs.
